- 20.13.010 Sentencing: It is the policy of the Nooksack Indian Tribe that penalties for convictions under Title 20, Crimes, under the Nooksack Law and Order Code should be based on a restitution program under which the criminal offender is required to repay, as a condition of his sentence, the victim and community in money or services.

To this end, fines and jail time, community service and other sentencing alternatives, such as alcohol-abuse counseling, should be balanced to insure that convicted offenders will receive just and adequate sentences that will require them to assume the maximum amount of responsibility for all of the consequences of their criminal acts.

- 20.13.020 Sentencing Guidelines: Factors that the court shall take into consideration when determining the character and duration of a convicted offender's sentence are: whether the offender has previously appeared before the court as a criminal defendant, and if so, whether the offender appears to the court to be establishing a pattern of criminal conduct; whether the immediate offense was of a willful or malicious nature; whether the offender has attempted to make amends, and if so, the extent of the offender's resources and the needs of his or her dependents, if any, and the needs of any victims.

The penalties set forth below are maximum penalties for each class of offense, and are intended to be imposed only in extreme cases.
